70 Red Buckets of Surprises!

“ Five years ago I was asked to develop standard paint specifications for our products. I was given three paint manufactures to work with. I made contact with all three and from the first phone call I could tell that Carboline was a step above of the rest. Carboline was very interested in helping me develop our paint specifications and really took the time to help me understand all aspects of painting. Everyone that I interact with at Carboline is incredibly helpful and knowledgeable. My sales rep is Tony Holzinger. Tony has made it easy to do business with Carboline. He is extremely knowledgeable and is always willing to answer questions, aide me in reviewing customer specifications, talk to applicators or meet with us and our customers. Tony listens to our needs and makes sure we understand everything from blast profile to final coat. In my experience, other competitors lack the understanding and dedication I see from the Carboline staff. That is why we selected Carboline as a preferred paint. ”
